

The old bridge was unable to withstand the tremendous pressure of ice. Photo shows middle span, which has since been demolished.

Ice jammed against Bloor street bridge before its destruction.

How Don appeared during wild rush, at Riverdale Park.

Ice almost touched foot bridge spanning the Don at the flats.

Railway tracks blocked by flood at Gerrard street bridge.

Ice jam on the Humber River above Bloor street. Boys become very venturesome.

Trees, logs and debris coming down with the ice in the Humber River flood.

Maori throwing chum over shoulder with bayonet.

How bombers carry their high explosives.

Rescuing horse at foot of Winchester street.

Monstrous ice cakes on the Humber River.

Signal Corps of 76th Battalion receiving messages.

Picket of the 76th returns after a cold march.

Interior view of the barracks of the 76th Battalion, Barrie, which is noted for its cleanliness.

Guard of the 76th Battalion, in charge of Sergt. Gibson and Corp. Carter.

Bugler Iris Carter, 13, of the 76th Battalion.

Platoon of 76th piling arms prior to being dismissed after a brisk route march.

"B" Company, 157th Battalion, stationed at Barrie, in charge of Major Knowles and Lieut. Powell.

No. 9 Platoon, 76th Battalion, Barrie, Ont.

No. 16 Platoon, 76th Battalion, Barrie, Ont.

—Photos by Alex J. McLaren

Col. Hon. James Mason.

Lt.-Col. G. Sterling Ryerson.

The Boys of '85. A few of the officers of the Q.O.R. and Royal Grenadiers, who fought during the Northwest Rebellion.

Capt. Cecil Gibson.

Lieut.-Col. Dr. C. Natrass.

"School of Cookery, Colchester. Toronto boys have maple leaf in their caps."

H. B. Jardine and C. E. Sheppard, with 3rd Division.

Group of jolly Toronto boys "somewhere in France." Pte. Brauner pushing "motor car."

Pte. W. W. Picar and prisoners of war, Geissen Camp, Germany. Do you recognize any others?

William A. Macdonald—former resident of Toronto, who came from California to enlist for overseas service. Now in France with Pioneers.

Australian and Canadian Mechanical Transport, A.S.C., showing several Toronto soldiers.

Pte. H. G. Freeman of Toronto and two pals at Geissen camp.

One of the very few pictures of Geissen Camp that has eluded the censor and reached Toronto.

Corporal Maurice Lee and two comrades, prisoners at Geissen.

Instruction staff and signallers in training at Exhibition Camp.

Three chums convalescing at Canadian hospital, Epsom, England. Left to right—Pte. D. McNulty, Montreal; Pte. J. Macgrath, Australia; Pte. C. Cameron, Toronto.

Chief Thomas Heath, of the Saskatoon Fire Department and members of the Boy Scouts whom he lectures every week on fire protection.

Toronto's famous overseas band, Seventy-fifth Battalion, C.E.F.

Pte. Fred H. Phillips, with Mechanical Transport, A.S.C. at Grove Park, London, Eng.

No. 10 Platoon, 134th Battalion, under Lieut. Bird.

Photo by Alex J. McLean

No. 9 Platoon, 134th Battalion, commanded by S. B. Snow.

Photo by Alex J. McLean